

Wanted: Primary Care Clinics Seeking to Improve Patient Care and Revenue

Millions of older adults suffer from depression and alcohol misuse, complicating treatment of chronic conditions and leaving them at greater risk for hospitalization. Primary care practices can help these older adults, and increase annual revenue, by implementing simple, annual screenings and brief interventions when needed. Medicare, and many other payers, will reimburse for these screenings.

At no cost to practices, HealthInsight New Mexico will provide technical and workflow redesign assistance to implement these screenings and achieve successful Medicare reimbursement.
